

Cordele-Crisp Carnegie Library Scrapbook Collection

The library’s scrapbook collection contains donated scrapbooks, one-of-a-kind compilations of photographs, printed matter and artwork, created by local civic organizations, heritage societies, and private clubs. The earliest scrapbook dates to 1936 and the latest to 2016. The collection resides in the Special Collections Room at the Cordele-Crisp Carnegie Library and is an important resource for those researching the history of Cordele and Crisp County in the twentieth century.

The scrapbooks are grouped by theme or producing organization and then chronologically from earliest to latest within a grouping. Scrapbooks with a civic focus come first, such as the Cordele-Crisp County Bicentennial scrapbook. Those of heritage societies such as the Daughters of the American Revolution follow. Finally scrapbooks produced by clubs such as garden clubs are arranged alphabetically. In three cases records of an organization are included alongside their scrapbook, Cordele Business & Professional Women’s Club, Cordele Garden Club and the Wimodauchi Club, for the convenience of researchers. An * preceding the cover title indicates multiple items are on one shelf or in one archival box.

Please be aware that many of the scrapbooks are in fragile condition and must be handled with care. These fragile works have been placed in archival storage boxes for their protection and preservation. Please preserve the page order when handling unbound materials. Reproduction for research purposes is allowed and a copy machine is located near the front desk. Please speak with the library manager about copying fragile material. In many cases a digital picture with a smartphone is the best reproduction option.
